About IEMC 2007

The IEEE Engineering Management Society will be holding its prestigious International Engineering Management Conference in Austin, Texas: www.iemc07.org. IEMC 2007 brings together engineering and management professionals from round the World and is focussed on the future. With the business and economic landscape undergoing rapid change, the human side; creativity, innovation and change management, is absolutely vital to corporate revitalisation and growth.

About the GOLD Track

The IEMC 2007 GOLD (IEEE Graduates of the Last Decade) track is a forum for young professionals and graduate students to:

- interact with their peers,
- discuss and debate industry practices,
- publicize and exchange feedback on on-going thesis research,
- interact with established managers and researchers who will be panellists and organizers,
- learn about the skills needed for a successful transition to engineering management, and
- establish connections in the engineering management community & help shape its future

This will be a one-day workshop organised so as to be highly interactive and allow opportunities for discussion.

Call for GOLD Track Short Papers for Poster Presentation

The GOLD track organizing committee is seeking the submission of short papers describing industry practices and on-going research in all areas of engineering management (for a list of topics, please refer to the IEMC 2007 Call for Papers). Authors are asked to submit their papers before the deadline of 31 May 2007, using the GOLD track 2007 format.

E-mail us at GOLDtrack@iemc07.org to tell us that you're intending to submit a paper and send your paper to this address too. Submissions will be peer-reviewed and a number of papers will be selected for inclusion as posters in the GOLD track program. These GOLD track papers will appear in the IEMC 07 proceedings.
